

Spain: new record in turnover of olive exports of the 2016/17 campaign

The Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries, Food and Environment \(MAPAMA\), has published the bulletin of foreign trade of olive oil corresponding to the 2016/17 campaign, which shows a new record of turnover, with a value that exceeds in more than 600 million € the previous campaign.

In volume the second highest export figure is reached, after the 2013/14 campaign which was record

Likewise, the greater weight of the exits to the Community market is observed, with an increase of the volumes exported to Italy (+ 30%) with respect to the 2015/16 campaign.

In the field of exports to third countries, the increases to Australia (+ 15%), Brazil (+ 6%) and Japan (+ 5%) stand out and there has been a drop in exports to China (-20%), Russia (-18%) and US (-6%) although not significant in absolute value

The higher growth of the value of exports vis-à-vis the volumes, has meant general increases for all destinations of the value of the exits with respect to the average and with respect to the last campaign.

Imports have fallen compared to the average and last season, more significantly those of community origin due to the strong growth of the previous one.

Olive Oil Market Bulletin 2017/18

The olive oil market bulletin of the campaign 2017/2018 has also been published, with data corresponding to November 30th, which shows an advance of the production rate above the average and especially the last campaign, in which was a delay in the maturation of the olive. This has allowed an increase in total stocks, which are above the average and compared to last season, by almost 100,000 tons.

The total commercialization with 217,300 tons marks a slight decrease of -3% with respect to the previous season and of -2% with respect to the average of the last four, with a monthly average of departures in this period of 108,650 tons. It is worth noting the behavior of the export channel that is above the average and the previous season by 6% and 4% respectively, although this month with lower volumes. The internal market continues to lose weight with respect to the total market.

The downward trend in prices since the beginning of the campaign is maintained and the differences with the prices recorded in the previous campaigns are reduced, although they are still above

At the international level, the same behavior is shown, with generalized drops in all places. Regarding the situation registered a year ago, prices are above in the case of Greece and below in Italy and Tunisia. If we compare them with the existing quotes in Spain, in Italy and Greece they are higher and in Tunisia they are below those registered in our country.

In the case of table olives, the production, which can be considered as finished, has reached 548,480 t which represents a decrease of -7% compared to last season

The commercialization in conjunction with 122,500 tons, has decreased by -6% with respect to the previous season and stocks at 30th November are quantified in 761,750 tons, which leads to a decrease of -3% compared to last season .
