AlgaEnergy confirms its presence in Infoagro Exhibition

AlgaEnergy has confirmed its participation in Infoagro Exhibition, which will take place in Almeria between May 22 and 24 and which celebrates its 3rd edition.

In this new edition, Infoagro Exhibition will once again become the meeting point nationally and internationally for professionals in the fruit and vegetable sector, from the producer link to the marketer and export. The suppliers of agricultural inputs will have a prominent space.

AlgaEnergy could not miss the appointment and in this showcase of exception will show its value proposition for a more sustainable agriculture. With it, the biotechnology company wants to contribute to give answers to the great challenges facing the agri-food industry and society in general. A contribution that materializes in the form of an innovative and above all effective solution: the AgriAlgae® microalgae bioestimulant range.

The presence at this public meeting is a good sign of the interest of AlgaEnergy for its consolidation in Almeria. As Carlos Rodríguez-Villa, General Manager of AlgaEnergy, points out, "Infoagro Exhibition is a consolidated appointment for the agri-food sector and the best showcase to show the market our novelties and solutions. We are convinced that, once again, our participation will exceed all expectations. " "Almería in a very mature market with a very professionalized horticultural sector and accustomed to the use of biostimulants. This region is an example worldwide and a mirror in which other producing areas want to be reflected. In this scenario, AlgaEnergy is in a privileged position to provide producers with an innovative, competitive, sustainable and, above all, very effective solution, "adds Rodríguez-Villa.
