Genuine Coconut of Spain, Fruit Logistica Innovation Award

The visitors at Fruit Logistica have decided: The Spanish company World's Coconut Trading has won the Fruit Logistica Innovation Award 2016 prize for his biological coco "Genuine Coconut". Genuine Coconut comes with a patented closure and a straw for the pleasure of drinking coconut water is not complicated, and it also contains important nutrients and minerals. Nam Thai Hom coconuts grow naturally in the heart of Thailand and is considered the best choice because of their quality, taste and aroma.

"We are happy and proud. Thanks to Fruit Logistica! It's a great reward for the three years of hard work, passion and excitement to the launch Genuine Coconut market," says Carlos Amoros World's Coconut Trading.

For the second visitors to Fruit Logistica chose the mini-tomatoes Kitchen Northern Greens Denmark. It is a plant of small, compact and very pleasant appearance throughout the year can give up to 150 fruits cherry tomatoes and measures only from nine to eleven centimeters wide and 35 high. Tomatoes weigh eight to ten grams. The flavor is sweet cherry tomatoes and aromatic, and aims to contribute to a higher consumption of vegetables by children and youth.

Peppers yellow and red stripes "bejeweled", developed by the Dutch company Terra Natura International, has been selected by visitors to the fair for the third place. Enjoya having an aromatic-spicy flavor and contains much more vitamin C. enjoya is available in different sizes, it is ideal for filling salads color and also as a snack with a suitable sauce.

For the first time, the jury awarded an extra prize. The distinction has been awarded to the company Stoffels Belgium by automatic machine tomatoes "Automato". For three boxes come rolling inward cart cherry tomatoes of different colors. Automato is a hygienic alternative and interactive offerings for younger consumers who intended to encourage them to approach offers vegetables.

Source: Fruit Logistica